HOPPE'S GIRL LIED

ADMITS SHE WAS NOT WITH HIM THE MORNING OF SLAYING IN QUINCY

Admitting that she lied in her testimony, Helen Elaine Bradshaw, 23-year-old Hartford divorcee and sweetheart of Stephen Hoppe, who is on trial at Dedham for the murder of Patrolman Alfred N. Hollis of Quincy, caused a sensation today at the death trial.

She took the witness stand before a packed courtroom and declared that she had lied while on the stand yesterday as to the number of days Hoppe was away from her at about the time of the murder.

The titian-haired sweetheart of the defendant also retracted her statement that she was with him in the early morning hours of October 4, 1927—the morning on which the Quincy policeman was slain.

BAY STATE IS PUZZLE, MOSES TELLS HOOVER

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—Herbert Hoover today conferred individually with a number of party leaders, including Chairman Work and Representative Franklin D. Fort of New Jersey, of the national committee; Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, vice-chairman of the eastern advisory committee, and Horace A. Mann, director of the southern division campaign.

Moses said he had discussed "several matters with the candidate, received from him some words of wisdom and am now on my way."

Asked about the situation in the East generally, the senator said it had improved, but he described that in Massachusetts as extremely difficult to analyze.

"No accurate analysis of the registration there can be made until after the end of the supplemental registration period," Senator Moses said. "Already 115,000 new names have been put on the list in the State, and

DRYS, THOUGHT CROOKS, SHOOT GIRL IN AUTO

Lorain, O., Sept. 27 (AP)—Miss Betty Heywood of Elyria is in a serious condition in a hospital here from a bullet wound alleged to have been received when officers fired on a car in which she was riding early today at South Lorain.

The officers, Frank Riady, Walter Knitter and Louis Cicco, all of Lorain, are held on technical charges for investigation.

The shooting occurred at a bridge in South Lorain, where the dry agents were stationed to apprehend rum runners. They are alleged to have fired when the car did not stop on command.

Charles Edwards of Elyria, driver of the car in which his wife, infant daughter and Miss Heywood were passengers, said he believed the agents were holdup men and increased the car's speed when they ordered him to stop and as the car sped past one shot was fired striking Miss Heywood in the neck.

Edward Grove to a hospital, where he left Miss Heywood, and then reported to the police.

No liquor was found in the car. Riady is a deputy sheriff. Knitter and Cicco are city police. All three are working as a dry enforcement squad under Mayor J. C. Standen.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 27—Governor Al Smith arrived in Minneapolis at 10:25 a. m., today, for a 24-hour visit to the twin cities.

Packed streets gave the Democratic presidential nominee a roaring welcome from the Great Northern station to the Nicollet hotel, where there was a short stop before embarking upon a 25-mile automobile parade through this city and into St. Paul.

The Smith special train had stopped for five hours early this morning near Anoka, Minn., a village 25 miles out, before proceeding into Minneapolis at the time set by the reception committee. A small

JOHN COOLIDGE'S AUTO IN CRASH INJURES VENO, HOCKEY STAR, MOTHER

New Haven, Sept. 27—John Coolidge, son of the President, narrowly escaped injury today in an auto crash in which Wilfred Veno, Boston and New Haven professional hockey star, and his mother suffered serious hurts.

Young Coolidge, in the automobile of Governor John H. Trumbull, was on his way to work in the New Haven Railroad offices after spending the night as a guest at the Trumbull home in Plainville.

Another overnight guest was John's mother, Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, whose absence from Northampton, Mass., where she has been staying for a week, constituted somewhat of a mystery until her return to that city.

Philadelphia's New Orang. Philadelphia Bootleggers. What? Tax Churches? Now, "Somnolentia."

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright 1928, by Star Co.

AN ORANG-OUTANG in Philadelphia is the first born in captivity in the United States. It weighed 10 pounds and no company would insure it.

The only other orang born in captivity was killed by its mother in Berlin when two days old

The annoying thing about this baby orang and others of the big apes is the fact that it has exactly the same kind of bones as your own body and is put together much on the same plan.

It has been reasonably suggested that Satan arranged this in an effort to confuse good Christians and lead them into dangerous theories of evolution.

Twenty-four more policemen, including one captain and six sergeants, were locked up in Philadelphia yesterday, in connection with bootlegging investigations.

The public should remember that these policemen represent corruption among politicians, contempt for law among "respectables" and juries.

Mayor Walker of New York suggests taxing churches that preach politics. "Tax exemption in the case of churches," says he, "was made for religious purposes on the ground that their sole business was saving souls."

The mayor's theory may be sound, but it is dangerous to discuss taxes on religious property, amounting in the United States to many billions of dollars. Some "bolsheviks," paying taxes on houses in which they raise children, might be only too ready to tax ALL churches and other religious properties.

It is easy to start a landslide, and not so easy to stop it.

Governor Fuller of Massachusetts tells women's clubs in New England: "If you deplore conditions in Russia, remember that every bit of corruption in public life is a contribution to that same socialism."

The ladies whom he addressed perhaps asked themselves: "If corruption did NOT promote socialism, would there be any harm in it?" The learned Will Rogers says, "Corruption and golf are two things we might just as well make up our minds to take up, for they are both going to be with us."

But, perhaps, if corruption actually does promote socialism, Americans will think seriously about it.

It would never do to PROMOTE SOCIALISM.

It will take at least $20,000,000 to give any adequate relief in the Porto Rico, Virgin Islands and Florida tornadoes. New York, richest city in the world, had yesterday raised $452,156 for the Red Cross relief fund.

Why waste time on Red Cross dribblets, to say nothing of Red Cross expense?

The richest government in the world, that sent Europe 10 billions of dollars to help foreigners kill each other, should find a few millions to help its own people.

The German air company, Lufthansa, announces for next year a flying time from Berlin to Peking of two and one-half days, and to Tokio three and one-half days.

Continents are coming closer together. For Moscow to attack New York effectively now would be easier than it was for Napoleon to have attacked London at the beginning of the last century.

Uncle Sam should take warning.

Wall Street was cheerful yesterday with the price of "call money" reduced to 6 per cent, only about double what money costs for stock exchange operations in Paris.

A while ago the rate was 9 per cent and lenders must be sad.

To lend at 6 per cent depositors' and stockholders' money that draws no interest must be a financial hardship.

And to make it worse, $5,000,000 in gold, coming from London, may make it even more difficult to maintain our artificial reign of usury.

Another play is produced in New York with unnecessary profanity.

Why must blasphemy and profanity, no longer used by self-respecting men, be perpetuated on the stage.

Decent men have given up spitting tobacco juice, as they once did in this country. Nobody would write a tobacco juice spitting play. Why write plays made indecent by cursing?

JOHN COOLIDGE ESCAPES AS TWO ARE HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Son's Visit to First Lady Has Near Fatal Climax

IN COLLISION

President's son, returning from visit to Governor Trumbull at Plainville, Ct., had narrow escape as two autos came together at Edwards and Livingston sts., New Haven.

VISITED TRUMBULLS

Mrs. Coolidge, whose absence from Northampton where she had been staying, caused some alarm, was also an overnight guest at the Governor's. She returned this morning.

WILFRED VENO

Driver of the second car, a well known hockey player, was badly hurt. His mother, Mrs. Mary Veno, was injured.

HOCKEY STAR IS INJURED

It was not until Mrs. Coolidge arrived back at Northampton today that she heard of the crash between Governor Trumbull's car, driven by Chauffeur William Cunningham, and a machine operated by Veno and carrying his mother as a passenger.

SENDS TWO TO HOSPITAL.

Veno, who is 28 years old, suffered a possible fracture of the skull. His mother, Mrs. Mary Veno, 55, was less seriously injured, but she also was taken to New Haven Hospital.

Young Coolidge, whose identity was not then known to the crowd that quickly gathered at the accident scene, Edwards and Livingston sts., jumped out of the Trumbull car when it came to a stop, asked Cunningham for aid—then decided it best to send the injured mother and son to the hospital in volunteered cars.

However, when a policeman arrived and began taking names of principals in the crash, the word went quickly around and a huge throng gathered.

The officer for a time was perplexed as to proper procedure in the case of a President's son, but he finally solved his problem by taking statements from young Coolidge and the chauffeur and allowing them to proceed.

MOTHER IS GUEST

John would have been about half an hour late at his New Haven Railroad desk if the accident had not occurred. As it was, he was nearly two hours late and after he arrived on his $30-a-week clerk's job he held himself incommunicado.

The President's son went to Plainville last night after quitting his railroad job for the day.

Meanwhile, his mother, accompanied by Mrs. R. E. Hills of Northampton and John J. Fitzgerald, a secret service agent, were headed over the road from Northampton to be guests at the big house where lives Florence Trumbull, who has "an understanding" with John.

At 7 a. m. today John left the Trumbull home for New Haven and his mother's party started for Northampton a short time later.

When Mrs. Coolidge was informed of the accident, she expressed gratification over John's escape from injury, but was concerned over the condition of the two victims.

'HALF PINT' AT BOSSY JAIL CASE

Lawrence, Sept. 27.—A half-pint was hailed with a triumphant flourish before a judge and jury in Superior Court today.

It was not a liquor case; it was the trial of Andrew Joseph Gillis, well advertised mayor of Newburyport, who, on appeal from a lower court decision, is seeking to escape 230 days in jail and fines aggregating $1140.

There was no smacking of lips as the half-pint came into view. A jitter arose, a chuckle and then a healthy roar of laughter. For the bottle contained the only liquid that ever got Bossy Gillis into trouble—gasoline.

It purported to be gasoline taken almost two years ago from the tanks of the Newburyport station at High and State sts., where recently the red-headed "bad boy," who left the city gasping when he eased into the mayoralty, has been staging another battle of the century.

FIRST TO FALL

And the hand that produced it moved in a triumphant flourish because its owner was John O. Erickson, former Newburyport fire chief, whose official head was one of the first of many to fall when "Bossy" Gillis moved into office.

Erickson was called by District Attorney William G. Clark as a witness in the first of four complaints that "Bossy" stored and sold gasoline at the station without lawful sanction.

The particular charge upon which he testified was resurrected from Superior Court, where it was filed more than a year and a half ago when "Bossy" appealed a 30-day sentence imposed in district court.

Under the law, the district attorney possessed the right to remove it from the dusty shelf and add it to those new charges which may move the Newburyport mayor's office from City Hall to the House of Correction.

ALL DRESSED UP

"Bossy" was more or less a presence of sartorial splendor when the trial began. He wore a blue and gray mixed suit, striped with a bright red that matched his hair, a red-dotted tie and highly polished oxfords.

He was not in good humor. The start of his trial was held up while a criminal case was disposed of, and Bossy, on hand since early yesterday morning, chafed under the delay.

His was serious and scowling when he took his seat outside the bar enclosure from which he was ousted yesterday.

Beside him sat T. Frank Kelleher, Newburyport city solicitor, and with the trial were his counsel, William M. McDonald and John P. Kane. Kelleher, permitted inside the enclosure, was the means by which Bossy relayed his messages to his counsel.

BAD PICTURES.

J. W. Toelken, State police photographer, was the first witness called by the Government. He produced pictures recently taken of the mayor's new gasoline filling station.

Police Nelson P. Brown ruled that they could not be used as evidence in the old case, but were admissible in relation to the new charges.

Former Fire Chief Erickson testified that on Nov. 23, 1926, he went to Bossy's station at High and State sts. and there talked with Gillis, who was not then mayor.

Erickson said he asked "Bossy" if the tanks contained gasoline and that "Bossy" replied they did.

Erickson said he then asked for a sample and filled a half-pint bottle with "Bossy" turned the crank of the pump. He then produced the bottle, sealed and multi-labelled, and a roar of laughter, in which the defendant joined, arose.

While Erickson testified his glance remained on "Bossy," and that individual, not easily abashed, stared back.

Orin J. Welch, sealer of weights and measures in Newburyport in 1926, took the stand.

HOLDS HIS JOB

"Are you still sealer of weights and measures?" Clark asked.

"Yes."

"On—then you are not appointed by the mayor?"

"No, I am under civil service."

"You're mighty glad of it, aren't you?"

Atty. Kane leaped to his feet with an indignant objection but Judge Brown haughtily replied: "Every one under civil service is glad of it."

More color was added when Welch refused to testify that gas he sampled came from an underground tank at the station. He persisted that it came from a pump and Dist. Atty. Clark failed in his attempt to make him mention a tank. Recess was then taken.

THIS STATE BIG PUZZLE, MOSES TELLS HOOVER

while some Republican wards in Boston have shown a larger increase than Democratic wards in that city, this is not a fair basis of comparison because of the overwhelming Democratic vote in Boston.

"The issues? Well you must understand that 83 per cent of the population in Massachusetts is Catholic. It is difficult to determine to what extent the State will be influenced by the issues. They are having a poll in the State on the prohibition question and I am hoping that the Republicans will stand by their party in the national election and express their prohibition preferences in the State poll."

Mr. Fort said he regarded the Massachusetts situation as much more favorable than it was a month ago. An analysis of increased registration in Boston, he said, had shown that a larger increase had taken place in Republican wards than in Democratic wards.

The situation in New Hampshire was a particular subject of discussion between Hoover and Fort.

"We have just finished a hard primary fight there," Fort said, "but the good sportsmanship of the defeated candidate for governor has gone far toward bringing the party back together for the campaign ahead."

Slanderers Are Aiding Gov. Smith, Says Roosevelt

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 27 (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York came here from his winter home at Warm Springs, Ga., to declare that prohibition was "not a noble experiment," but an "ignominious failure," and charged that pamphlets had been sent out attacking the religion of Governor Alfred E. Smith.

"Republican leaders, while announcing they had nothing to do with this slander campaign," the speaker declared, "are glad it is going on. And I am, too. I wish I could put the slander and scandal sheets into every Protestant home in the country and thereby give Smith the unanimous vote."

"I pray," the speaker said, "that the Lord Almighty will spare Upshaw, Heflin and Straton until the election. They are doing more than anybody else to make sure the election of Governor Smith."

Starting off on a tack not covered in his prepared address, Mr. Roosevelt declared that the prohibition issue had been raised "as a coat of enamel to hide other sins and uncleanliness."

The prosperity claims of the administration, Roosevelt classified as without foundation.

"They are not prosperous in New England," he asserted, "nor are they prosperous in Georgia."

SMITH SPEAKS TONIGHT IN ST. PAUL

group of townspeople gathered about the candidate's private car at Anoka. Gov. Smith and daughter, Mrs. Emily Warner, exchanged greetings with them.

The parade route in the Twin Cities was gaily decorated.

Tonight in St. Paul, Governor Smith will deliver the fifth major speech of his western trip. He is expected to speak on transportation problems, including inland waterways as well as on the tariff and agriculture. The speech will be broadcast on a nation-wide radio hookup.

Smith pins his hopes on an appeal to the old La Follette insurgent following in this as well as other states he has visited and in Wisconsin, where he will speak Saturday night.

Magnus Johnson, first farmer-labor representative in the Senate, has come out for Smith and is campaigning the state for him. Senator Hendrik Shipstead, farmer-labor Senator who defeated Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, and is now running for re-election, is remaining silent on the presidential contest.

Minnesota also has a gubernatorial election this year, with Governor Christianson, Republican candidate to succeed himself. Christianson was for Lowden in the pre-convention contest, and Hoover's victory at Kansas City is said to have left many sore spots among the regular Republicans.

City Collector George H. Johnson announced today that for the benefit of taxpayers the tax collector's office will be kept open until 3 p. m. Saturday and until 5 p. m. Monday and Tuesday. Real estate and personal taxes of Boston residents, if not paid by the time of close of business October 2, will carry 6 per cent interest retroactive to September 16.

PUPILS MARCH OUT AT TRADE SCHOOL FIRE

Seven hundred boys attending classes in the Boston trade school in Parker st., Roxbury, filed out of the building in an orderly manner today when a fire alarm was sounded there and then, when it was ascertained that there was no danger of fire, returned to their classes in the same manner.

One of the instructors at the school had gone to the mill room with an oxygen acetylene torch to do a welding job. A small breeze started on his torch and when he attempted to shut off the air valve with a monkey wrench the valve broke. The fire alarm was then sounded. The building was not damaged.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

BACON DEFEAT IS GOODWIN'S DEMAND

Characterizing Senator Gaspar G. Bacon as "a menace to government for the people," former Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin ran a letter today to all Republican nominees to the State Senate in which he demanded Bacon's defeat as president of the Senate.

The Goodwin letter brought a moan of pain from G. O. P. leaders who had hoped in next Saturday's State convention to knit up the ravellings of dissension and weave in a nicely-blended harmony pattern.

Goodwin already has declared his intention of "cutting" the convention. This declaration has been followed by persistent rumors that the former registrar has been offered many openings if he would climb up on the machine, among them the job of postmaster of Boston and that of State insurance commissioner.

REJECTS ALL 'OVERTURES.'

According to the rumors, Goodwin has turned down all the overtures.

His letter today to the senatorial nominees he said:

"In the primaries just held, I received 170,000 Republican votes. This tremendous vote was a protest again t State st. domination of our state government.

"In the coming session of the Legislature, the Republican party will be on trial—the Boston Elevated matter must be settled, telephone rates must be reduced or an investigation of the company ordered, light and power rates must be reduced and insurance companies must be curbed.

"If you elect Gasper G. Bacon president of the Senate it will be a message to the people of Massachusetts that the 'leopard' cannot change its spots.

"When the returns came in the day after the primaries showing the defeat of Walter McLane and Alvin Bliss, there was some hope for better times, but since then McLane, Ernest Goulston and Bacon have been racing about the State pledging votes for Bacon. His publicity agent now announces sure victory for him.

CALLS BACON "MENACE."

"Gasper Bacon is a menace to government for the people—he is an overbearing, autocratic representative of that element in the community that believes government should be run by and in the interest of the few.

"Any member of the Senate representing a constituency made up of ordinary middle class or working people who votes for him will be selling out his constituency to the banking interests of Boston.

"Don't let them buy you out with the promises of a good committee. The interests of your constituents are more important than any committee appointment you can get.

"The fight to restore the government of Massachusetts to the citizens has just begun."

MRS. CLARKE'S SUITOR WAS ELOQUENT

By FRANK C. McLEAN

What manner of persons are those who seek friendship, companionship and marriage through the medium of matrimonial agencies?

Perusal of the many letters sent to Mrs. Katherine M. Clarke, Boston victim of the hatchet-murder at Foothills, Wash., indicates that most of them are sincere.

But the letters of "James R. Murphy" which lured her westward with promises of marriage and wealth, rang sincere in the interpretation of the Boston divorcee who found death instead of a $100,000 husband, waiting for her in the Washington foothills.

"Murphy"—if such a man existed—was eloquent in his arguments overcoming her natural qualms at journeying 3000 miles to wed a man she never had seen. His writing was in a fine hand.

A FARMHAND'S LETTER

Not all of those letters seized among Mrs. Clarke's effects are written in fine hand and few of them are eloquent. But they do give the outside world a vision of the utter loneliness that may dwell in a man's soul smothered be be subnurned by a multitude of his own kind.

From Los Angeles, on July 29, Mrs. Clarke received the following letter:

"I thought I would drop you a line and find out if you would care to correspond with me.

"I am a young man 29 years of age, height five feet six and one-half inches, weigh 120 pounds, have brown hair and dark blue eyes; also have a good disposition. I like music, flowers and everything beautiful. I am fond of home life but am a poor man.

"Now about yourself—are you pretty, and what do you weigh? Your height is given, but not your weight.

"Should you care to answer this letter I would be very glad to hear from you. Could you send me a snapshot of yourself? Should you like my description? I would send you one of myself only I haven't one."

Another one written to her from Summerland, B. C., on Aug. 9, is as follows:

FROM NEW BRUNSWICK

"Your name and address have been given me by the Starland Friendship Club of which I also am a member and I am taking this opportunity to write to you.

"I would be pleased to hear from you if you are not already corresponding with someone else, and if you like my description.

"I am five feet, eight inches tall, weight 170, age 47, brown hair and eyes. I am working on a fruit lot in the Okanogan Valley in British Columbia. I would very much like to hear from you soon."

On a letterhead of the Mount Allison Ladies College at Sackville, New Brunswick, the following was addressed to Mrs. Clarke on Aug. 27:

"I saw your name and address on the list of the club so I thought I would drop you a line. I do not think there is no harm to write, so if you don't object, of course everything would be all right. So how would you like to write to me?

"I am sure I like to make friend, and to know someone that I do not know, but I am sure I do not think that I have not you before, so your name is very much more to me. I may be mistaken but, nevertheless, I will write to you, so hope to hear from you soon."

UPSTATE STRENGTH AMAZING

By CHARLES N. WHEELER
Noted Political Analyst

Chicago, Sept. 27—Doubt is raised as to whether Governor Smith can hold his normal upstate strength in New York, as late figures are tabulated in the Hearst nation-wide poll.

Totals today indicate that Hoover is going to run much better outside of Greater New York than at first calculated. At the present rate of his gain, using the 1926 vote as a basis of comparison, he has a fair chance of wiping out Smith's big lead in the metropolitan area.

What the upstate figures totaled thus far disclose is that Hoover, by a large margin, is stronger than Mills, who was the last one to go up against the Smith buzzsaw. By the same token, it begins to look as if Smith is not going to be nearly as strong as a presidential candidate as he was running for governor.

These, at least, are the present indications and are more particularly undercored in the 10 counties forming the southeast end of the State surrounding the Greater New York territory.

These counties are Westchester, Nassau, Suffolk, Orange, Ulster, Delaware, Sullivan, Dutchess, Putnam and Rockland.

HOOVER FAR AHEAD

In former governorship campaigns Smith carried Westchester and Rockland once and Sullivan County twice. The present poll points to an overwhelming lead for Hoover in these three counties this trip and a considerably larger vote in the other seven counties than normally registered by Republican candidates.

Westchester County, which butts up against the metropolitan area, developed a close race between Mills and Smith two years ago, with Mills finally winning it by the narrow margin of some 1000 votes in a total of 116,000. Today's Hearst poll gives Hoover 2958 to 1149 for Smith, or a shade better than two to one. While outdistancing Smith with the men vote, of which 58.4 were recorded for Hoover, the Republican candidate gets 77.4 per cent of the women vote.

Nassau County (Long Island) was carried by Mills by a vote of 36,132 to 24,221, or three to two. Today's poll gives Hoover 1251 to 688, or almost two to one, with Hoover getting 64.7 per cent of the men vote and 64.8 per cent of the women preference.

What the poll in upstate New York so far seems to indicate is that while Hoover is going to more than hold the normal men vote he is going to make it a runaway race when it comes to counting the women votes, except in a few of the industrial centers.

Throughout the strictly rural communities of the state Hoover and Curtis are going to roll up a tremendous plurality. It now seems likely.

In Greater New York, however, Governor Smith is maintaining his two to one lead in the straw vote. The totals today being: Smith, 82,917; Hoover, 46,825. The Governor, likewise, is ahead in the entire State vote with 69,420 to 63,338.

NEWPORT CITY HALL SET ON FIRE AGAIN

Newport, R. I., Sept. 27—The second attempt in four years to burn the local city hall was frustrated today when Janitor Thomas Moriarty extinguished a blaze near a window of the city engineer's office.

The fire was burning briskly in a pile of newspapers and rubbish saturated with gasoline, in the rear of the building, when discovered by Moriarty.

Four years ago the building was destroyed by an incendiary fire with a loss of several hundred thousand dollars, but the culprit was never apprehended.

Mayor Mortimer A. Sullivan and Alderman J. Howell Cousins made an inspection of the lower floor this morning, after being notified of the latest arson attempt, and found a number of windows broken near the locks.

These were in the city engineer's office, the office of the sealer of weights and measures, the boiler room and wash room.

It was learned a steam roller and street digger, standing outside, and being used on the biggest street lawn job in the history of Newport, had been temporarily put out of commission.

The machines are the property of a Bristol contractor whose bid obtained the job of laying concrete surfaces throughout the city. Officials were at a loss to account for the depredations, but a police investigations is expected to reveal clues.

According to Fire Chief Joseph Lawton, today's blaze was a deliberate attempt to burn the City Hall, and only the opportune arrival of the janitor averted a serious fire.

HUB DRY LEADER IS FOR SMITH

By BERNARD J. DOHERTY

From the Democratic State committee today came the announcement that Miss Marion Holmes, an ardent prohibitionist, and secretary of the Massachusetts branch of the International League for Peace and Freedom, will vote for Governor Smith.

In the announcement Miss Holmes is quoted as saying:

"Despite the fact that I am an active prohibitionist I have determined to cast my vote for Governor Smith as President because of his record of honesty and proven ability in administration and his progressive stand on other policies.

"Moreover, I feel that Governor Smith would put the issue of prohibition before the people and follow the expression of their will, whether or not he might agree. I do not feel that Mr. Hoover's statement on the matter is definite and constructive enough to warrant my support of a man who seems to be less qualified in every other respect.

New Lies Are Bared in Smith "Anti-Catholic" Drive

New York, Sept. 27 (INS)—Again "sailing a lie" concerning Governor Alfred E. Smith's personal conduct and challenging an organized effort "to spread anti-Catholic propaganda," Democratic national headquarters made public today a letter of the Brooklyn women's committee, National Hoover-Curtis committee.

A letter signed by Lois Fraser Clark, recording secretary of the Hoover-Curtis committee, charged that Governor Smith had appeared in a semi-intoxicated condition at a boys' camp in New York State. It also quoted from a pamphlet published by "The Sons and Daughters of Washington" in which it was asserted that a vote for Smith was a vote for "the monarchical form of government of pagan Rome."

The letter was addressed to Mrs. John Carlin of Brooklyn, who had previously declined to serve on the Republican committee. Mrs. Carlin turned Miss Clark's letter over to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, chairman of the Democratic national women's advisory committee.

"Who told you the story that Governor Smith appeared at the boys' camp in such condition that a 10-year-old boy would remark, 'his breath would knock you over'?" Mrs. Roosevelt demanded.

"What evidence have you of graft in the State of New York? What do you mean by saying that Governor Smith has 'used his power of pardon to liberate known criminals simply to get the votes of the underworld'?"

Mrs. Roosevelt asked for specific evidence, with names, in response to each of her questions.

COOK LOSES AID OF ROOSEVELT CLUB MEMBERS

President Robert M. Washburn of the Roosevelt Club announced today that his organization will not support State Auditor Alonzo B. Cook, who was renominated in the G. O. P. primary on Sept. 18.

Immediately after the primary Washburn wrote to Francis Prescott, chairman of the Republican State Committee, inquiring as to whether Republicans who were opposed to Cook should vote in the election for the Democratic nominee.

Prescott answered that the committee would support all nominated for the state ticket by the Republican voters. This answer, Washburn communicated to the club members, and his statement today is the result of that action.

BEERY SAYS "NO"

Juanita Montanya, Spanish dancer, charges Wallace Beery is the father of her 11-month-old daughter, Lolita, but the actor brands the charge as untrue. She is suing him for $500,000 in California.

BEERY BRANDS SUIT A 'PLOT'

Los Angeles, Sept. 27 (AP)—Wallace Beery, featured motion picture actor, made a blanket denial of charges of Juanita Montanya, Spanish dancer, that he is the father of her 11-month-old daughter, Lolita Montanya.

The actor's denial was made in a deposition taken by attorneys for the plaintiff, who has brought suit against him for $500,000 for two alleged criminal attacks while she was a guest in the Beery home.

HOOVER SAYS PARTY IS "LEADER IN PROGRESS"

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—Addressing a delegation of fifty voters from the Virginias who called today at his headquarters, Herbert Hoover said the Republican party had always been the party of action for the benefit of the country at large "without regard to sectional or to special interest."

The Republican presidential nominee declared also that his party was ever young with each new generation and became in every expanding cycle of the country's advance it had caught the step of progress. It had marched in the lead in bringing about those things which were for the greatest good to the greatest number.

TWO MORE DIE IN EPIDEMIC AT DRACUT

Dracut, Sept. 27—With two more deaths of children in this town, due to a form of throat trouble, the situation became alarming today and parents of more than 50 children kept them from the Collinsville school, where the epidemic is prevalent.

The latest victims are George Chapoux, 12, and Camelia Vallante, 5. Irene Gougeon, 8, died last Sunday.

The Vallante and Gougeon children died of diphtheria and the Chapoux boy died of bronchial pneumonia, according to the death certificates.

Authorities here are inclined to minimize the extent of the epidemic. They say it is possible that there is no connection between the deaths and the sore throat cases existing.

Dr. George M. Sullivan of the State Board of Health is cooperating with Dr. Ainsworth V. Isherwood in fighting the disease.

The Gougeon girl and Chapoux boy attended the Collinsville school. The Vallante girl did not, although her brothers and sister do.

It is understood that there are about 20 cases of sore throat in the town. The authorities believe the epidemic is due to the weather and not to impure milk supply, such as caused the septic throat epidemic in Lee.

LONDON IGNORES PLEA TO BAR AIMEE M'PHERSON

London, Sept. 27 (INS)—The plea of the Rev. W. E. Fletch, of Los Angeles, Cal., that Mrs. Aimee Semple MacPherson be barred from England by the immigration authorities has apparently fallen on deaf ears so far as the Home Office is concerned.

Government officials said there was no similarity between the cases of Mrs. MacPherson and Harry Thaw, who was refused permission to land on English soil. They said that Thaw had been convicted on an indictable offense and that there is no question of moral turpitude in the case of the evangelist.

BOOM C. L. BURRILL AS PRESIDENTIAL ELECTOR

From the floor of the Republican convention in Symphony Hall on Saturday, friends of Charl. L. Burrill of Boston, defeated candidate for lieutenant-governor, will wage a fight for Burrill's election as a presidential elector from the 10th congressional district. It became known today that the machine candidate for elector from the district will be Edward G. Graves, former surveyor of the port.

Memphis, Sept. 27 (AP)—Clarence Saunders, chain store operator, is being sued for divorce.

3 COMMUNITIES PROTEST CURTAILMENT OF TRAINS

Discontinuance of two trains by the Boston & Albany Railroad on the Milford branch was protested today by selectmen of Milford and Hollaston in a petition to the Public Utilities Commission. One train leaves Framingham at 8.48 a. m. and the second leaves Milford at 8.05, eastern standard time. The curtailment is scheduled to take effect September 30.

A proposed curtailment of service at Plympton station, on the Old Colony division of the New Haven road, was protested by 65 commuters from Silver Lake, Plympton and Kingston.

Plane to Aid in Hunt for Runaway R. I. Mule

Providence, Sept. 27—An airplane will be used in a state-wide search for a missing mule which strayed Monday from the Frenchtown farm of Benjamin F. Lister, wealthy mill owner.

This particular piece of mule-flesh is worth $200 and already the radio has been used in attempts to trace its whereabouts.

A broadcast of the animal's description from two Providence stations brought results not particularly gratifying. One man said he saw a farmer leading that very mule over a road at Mossup, Ct. Another was sure the hybrid was in Harmony.

The airplane will be used tomorrow, if the search today is unsuccessful. Then the posses and the bloodhounds may be called out.

FUR THIEVES IN $10,000 HAUL AT BROCKTON

Brockton, Sept. 27—Working leisurely, discarding the less expensive garments, robbers early today looted of the Cohen Fashion Shop, 142 Main st., of furs and gowns valued at more than $10,000.

Mrs. Sadie Cohen, who conducts the shop, discovered the break this morning. Entrance was gained through a rear window which opens on a stairway, the shop being located on the second floor.

Several dozen gowns and more than 50 fur coats were taken. Mrs. Cohen said the value of the loot might reach $20,000.

COLD WAVE AROUSES HUNTS CLUBS TO PLAN MEETS, SAYS BETTY ALDEN

Cameron Forbes to Entertain Poloists

NOTHING LESS THAN JACK FROST'S appearance on Cameron Forbes' polo field, to overlay bright green turf with sparkling white, will deter the polo veterans who gambol after the swift white ball from their regular tri-weekly setto. For the next week or two, therefore, mallets will swing, hooves thud and the ball go bounding goalward at the fine field the former governor-general of the Philippines maintains at Gay Farm for the pursuit of one of his hobbies. Hatless a hobby or two is the genial "Cam" Forbes' way. And gaily he rides them all. Without a doubt all of polo mounts at Gay Farm whist would the "one pony" man do for his favorite game. Which thanks are to be given for the Forbes generosity, and certainly polo is replete with thrills for player and spectator, and is a pretty sight at any time.

ANOTHER FORBES HOBBY, continuously ridden, is an enormous ranch out in Wyoming. To look a thousand or two miles out there during the summer is a mild ordinary Forbes proceeding. Mr. Forbes is just back from his second trip west this season, and both to go interval down at Nausnon before coming up to his manorial estate. Still another hobby specially dear to the gentleman's heart is authorship, perhaps the least best known of all he rides. Having the leisure and the urge to write, a plethoric purse and that experience culled from an existence crammed full of events, Mr. Forbes can pip the pen in vastly entertaining manner. About the polo veterans of the mallet will probably be together on Saturday, if not on Friday of this week for some matches.

A TOUCH OF FROST IN THE air brings the smart Hunts Clubs to life and renews their interest in fleet hunters and keenmused hounds. And, incidently, revives those jolly occasions, hunt luncheons and suppers when horse sense in occupy pleasantly such time as hunting permits and they spend within the four walls of their clubs. October 12 and 13 are significant dates in North Shore Club annals for luncheing, dining, hunting and racing. Friday evening, the 12th, all the hunt members make merry at their club, after a run of the hounds. And Saturday, the Norfolk set is host to the visiting Eastern Horse Club members who are on hand for Norfolk's annual race meet. The sporting event of the year thereabouts is Norfolk's meeting with a card of five or six races and thrills for everyone.

SILKS, GARISHLY BRILLIANT, belonging to every important stable between Myopia and Medfield will flash down the course. Young Mr. Frederick L. Ordway, gentleman rider, is busy with the entry list for the Norfolk Meet's six or so events that for interest rival the occasional anything hereabouts. The Norfolk last season moved down the hillside and set up a splendid new steeplechase course in a rolling reach of country that affords a perfect run and the best possible grandstand hillocks. Along in November comes the Farmers' Day when Norfolk puts on a snappy horse show, a hospitable gesture to the farmers whose lands round about Medfield, Sherborne, Dover and thereabouts afford a good run for the hounds.

BRIDESMAIDS TO THE NUMber of 14 or so will sway in slow rhythm before Miss Virginia Parker as she moves step by step with the Lohengrin chaude on Nov. 10. Mr. and Mrs. James A. Parker's elder daughter is to be wed, with William Butterworth, Jr., on that date. The bride and the bridal entourage will be as impressive as any that ever moved up Emmanuel's dimly lighted aisle. The bride-elect possesses a warm and dusky beauty blending admirably with white satin's lustre and tulle's misty veiling. Cards for this important nuptial will find their way to practically the entire upper crust, those of the socially elect with whom the Parkers move in exalted circles. Miss Parker will be one of autumn's loveliest brides. She has the brunette good looks that distinguishes her mater and her aunts, Mrs. A. Lovell Little and Mrs. Jasper Whiting.

SAMUEL SHAW of Brookline moves in the horseshow orbit which now brings him to the Worcester classic and a judges' stand. Having a keen knowledge of equine fine points and delighting in horses for their own noble sakes, Mr. Shaw is never happier than when attending such sporting events. He has just been at Springfield, where the famous harness mare, Seaton Pippin, was a sensation. Mr. Shaw is justly proud of the fact that he, as judge, had the privilege and distinction of awarding Seaton Pippin her first blue as a harness horse, placing her first over the champion Charm. Pippin is one of the Seaton farm marvels, all the property of Enid Moore of New York. At the Worcester show Mr. Shaw is quite in his element, that city being an old stamping ground and exhibitors many of them old personal friends.

PROPER DANCE DECORUM and how to enter a ballroom are educational touches early instilled into the minds of Boston's still very young set. Easily and pleasantly is this effected via the simple method several managing mammas have adopted. They merely arrange a series of junior dances for the boys and girls still at school and thus train their offspring in the way they have to go when full-fledged members of the social world. No less than four sets of dances are listed on the Hotel Somerset's calendar, each designed primarily for younger set amusement. To be sure the hours are not the 4 o'clock in the morning tiling the hosts and hostesses delight to keep, but they are sufficiently early or sufficiently late to intrigue the sets for which they are planned.

MRS. ROBERT SOUTER AND Mrs. Walter Hunnewell direct the destinies of one dance series. These commence Dec. 7 and occupy the late afternoon-early evening hours of 5 o'clock to 9:30. And particularly interest the boy-ish souls who desire some day to squire the debutantes, and who may fit there hours into their home-from-school week-end program. Each week this set and their girl contemporaries will dance merrily, always in anticipation of joys to come, when real grown up parties are their lot. Both Mrs. Hunnewell and Mrs. Souter are experienced manageresses of such affairs and, under their expert direction, music and membership will be of the choicest.

FRIDAY EVENINGS THROUGHout the winter Mrs. John Hallowell sees to it that the sub debutantes and their dancing partners trip a merry measure. These Friday dances have been a feature of several winters. Another series pleasantly anticipated by the fleeting young people have Mrs. Malcolm R. Stone and Mrs. Francis P. Appleton at their head and interest particularly the set associated in the Junior Assembly. Together with there are the Saturday evening dances, really dancing classes, over which Mrs. J. Lewis Bremer holds sway. With these four series the young people will feel very much in the social swim and quite as important as the set that is formally out and so about to enjoy the winter whirl at its most intense pace.

MR. AND MRS. ROYCE GILBERT of the Hotel Sheraton have temporarily deserted their high apartment overlooking the Basin and gone down to White Sulphur Springs for a short autumn stay, just when the smart mountain resort flaunts its brightest glory. They have reservations at the Greenbrier for their visit at the famous spa. Miss Doris Keene Gilbert remains at the sheraton since schooldays loom just ahead and she is a pupil at Beaver Country Day School.

AUTUMN COLORS BLAZE UP ever more gorgeous across Waltham hills as Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Paine linger on through September and October at their country place. Even a part of November will be spent at "Stonehurst," set high on a wooded hilltop, and the Thanksgiving bird will be roasted and partaken of there, before Mr. and Mrs. Paine consider their season ended and come into town. The Arlington st. establishment, meanwhile, broods in shuttered silence over the green and formal beauty of the Public Garden. It comes alive again only for a short occupancy, the two or three months of midwinter, and the handsome Mrs. Paine and her distinguished spouse spend in the midst of urban excitements.

HEARING ON MURDER AFFIDAVIT OF SMITH

The affidavit by Louis Smith of Dorchester, chief government witness, declaring he was mistaken in identifying a fleeing man after Joseph Pantasis had been murdered in the North End, was written in a Hanover st. undertaker's shop, it is testified by the undertaker, Raffaele Guarente, today in Superior Court.

In the court Judge Cox is hearing a petition of Asst. Dist. Atty. Frederick T. Doyle that Genaro Cero of Cambridge and Salvatore Gallo of Revere be adjudged in contempt of court for alleged obstruction of justice in attempting to induce Smith to make the affidavit. Smith testified today that he wrote an affidavit as dictated by Gallo, but did not sign it.

Boy, 4, Killed by Auto

Haverhill, Sept. 27—Dazing into the path of an automobile while walking with his father, Howard Woodburn, four, of South Central st., was almost instantly killed today. The machine was operated by Archibald S. McKeen, a photographer, who swerved his auto in a vain effort to avoid striking the child.

'SLEEP' KILLER MAY BE GIVEN HIS LIBERTY

Detroit, Sept. 27 (AP)—Chester Kutulus's "sleep-walking" defense to the charge he slew his wife had presented him with a fair chance of a suspended sentence today.

A jury returned a verdict finding Kutulus guilty of manslaughter, but recommending mercy. Judge Murphy turned the case over to the probation department for a character report on the 43-year-old defendant.

Under the law the court may suspend sentence or fix a penalty of from 1 to 15 years imprisonment.

Kutulus's defense was that he shot his wife while walking in his sleep, and that not until the report of the pistol awoke him did he realize what he had done. It was testified that the Kutulus family appeared to have been happy together.

Dr. Isaac Polozker, a physchiatrist, said it was possible for a somnambulic to shoot another person while in a semi-conscious state and that commission of violent physical acts while in such a state was not uncommon in sufferers from the disease.

"The act," the psychiatrist said, "need be dictated neither by the conscious nor subconscious mind, but may be carried out by the body while the mind is at rest."

MRS. GORDON FIGHTS N. H. SCHOOL FOR LITTLE SON

The dispute over custody of William Clark Gordon, 9, flamed anew today when his mother, Mrs. Doris Clark Gordon, in Middlesex Probate Court told Judge Campbell she objected to the Tilton school in Tilton, N. H., as the future residence of her boy.

Tuesday, Mrs. Gordon and her husband, David W. Gordon, appeared in the same court to battle for custody of their son. It was revealed then they have been separated for some time.

Today Mrs. Gordon announced she objected to the school because it is coeducational, because older and younger boys are not separated, and because of its altitude.

BACK BAY STATION PLAN HEARD AT STATE HOUSE

Further discussion of the proposal for a Union Station in Back Bay was carried on at a private conference at the State House of representatives in the city, the Boston & Albany and the New Haven railroads and members of the public utilities commission. The meeting followed Mayor Nichols' conference with President Crowley of the New York Central, which controls the B. & A., at which Crowley said there was not sufficient interchange of passengers to warrant the station. The mayor said that the New Haven road is ready to construct its new Back Bay station that, if the public utilities commission decrees a union depot shall be built, the necessary connecting link can be made easily.

Friedrichshafen, Sept. 27 (INS)—Herr von Brandenburg, director of the German Air Ministry, intends to make the flight to the United States in the great new dirigible Count Zeppelin, he said. He was aboard during one trial flight and was so captivated by the airship he decided to go to the United States with it.

PRINCE TO WED 'COMMONER'

Tokyo, Sept. 27 (AP)—Tomorrow is the wedding day for the little "commoner's" daughter, who may be the Empress of Japan.

Miss Setsuko Matsudaira, just turned 19, a few months ago a schoolgirl in a Washington finishing school, with interests and tastes much like those of any American girl, will be the bride of Yashiro, Prince Chichibu, brother of the Emperor and heir presumptive to the throne. Thus she will enter the oldest reigning house in the world.

NEED BREAD AND BUTTER VALUES IN EDUCATION

Lewiston, Sept. 27 (AP)—A college education that can be evaluated in terms of bread and butter as well as cultural enrichment is the individual is the present need, President Clifton D. Gray of Bates College declared today at the opening exercises of the college. Among the speakers was William Tudor Gardiner, governor-elect.

An education that is exclusively cultural is a luxury, President Gray emphasized, and can be ill-afforded in a country where inherited wealth has not thus far created a distinct leisure class."

25 WOMEN NAMED HEADS OF STATE HOOVER SHOPS

Twenty-five prominent women were today chosen by the Republican Womens' Club to serve as chairmen of "Hoover-for-President shops" in the State.

Among those chosen are Mrs. Frederick C. Bigley, Boylston st. shop; Mrs. Arthur D. Potter, Greenfield shop; Mrs. Fred Lewis, of Cohasset, Cambridge shop; Mrs. Lodvine Lemoine, Fall River; Mrs. H. S. Brigham, at Springfield, and Mrs. F. R. Woodward at oWrcester.

MAYOR TO INSIST UPON NEW CONGRESS ST. BRIDGE

Aroused by the City Council's defeat of the $300,000 loan order for construction of a new Congress st. bridge, Mayor Nichols announced today he would send the order back to the councillors next Monday, urging its passage on the ground that "it is time to fish or cut bait." The mayor declared that the present structure is in such condition that in time it will have to be closed to traffic altogether and that something must be done at once.

DEATH RATE BY AUTOS TARGET OF CRUSADE

A six-weeks' highway safety campaign, to break, if possible, the high accident rate in the "death" months of October and November, authorized by Governor Fuller, will start October 15, it was announced today.

Announcement was made at a special meeting in the State House of the Governor's committee on street and highway safety by Chairman Howard Coonley.

He stated that preparations will begin on Monday with headquarters at 6 Beacon st., in charge of Secretary Richard K. Townsend, and later campaign centers will be established in every county in the State.

Mr. Coonley said the official designation of the drive will be "Save a Life," and it will be headed officially by Governor Fuller and Capt. George A. Parker, registrar of motor vehicles.

There will be a trained staff and city officials, civic organizations, safety councils, automobile clubs, transportation companies and other groups will co-operate.

$200,000,000 IN FOREIGN CAPITAL SOUGHT BY SOVIET

Moscow, Sept. 27 (AP)—Soviet Russia hung out another welcome sign for foreign investors today, the chief concessions committee announcing construction and operation of public utilities in 60 of the largest cities of the Soviet union are to be opened to foreign capital.

In all 400,000,000 rubles or approximately $200,000,000 of foreign investments are needed for the commercial services and foreigners will be given concessions for installing and operating tramways, motor buses, gas, water, electric and sewerage services, albatoirs and other public utilities.

BAUER REFUSES TO GIVE DOG SHOOTER GUN PERMIT

Mayor Bauer of Lynn today refused to grant a permit to carry a gun to Charles Clark, agent for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Clark told the Mayor he wanted it to shoot dogs.

The Mayor, known as a friend of dogs, through his association with State officials over drives on unlicensed ones, replied that he would not issue a permit for such a reason. The granting of such permits was recently taken over by the Lynn Mayor and the fee raised from $1 to $5.

FEAR BODY IN NICARAGUA IS OF SLAIN AMERICAN

Managua, Nicaragua, Sept. 27 (AP)—Investigation is being made into the identity of the body of a white man with three bullet holes in the back of the head, found recently at Wawasi in the Coco river.

It is believed the body may be that of George H. Marshall of New York, assistant manager of the LaLa y Los Angeles gold mine, an American-owned property in eastern Nicaragua. Marshall disappeared last April by followers of Sandino when the La Log mine was looted.

EXPERT TELLS BUSINESS GIRLS 'BE YOURSELF'

"Women, be yourself in business."

This, in a nutshell, is the message which a slim, golden-haired young woman has brought to Boston from her office as chief of the domestic trade inquiry division in Washington.

Miss Aida Bush arrived here for a brief visit and was immediately sought out by leading business organizations and women's clubs, all begging for the peculiar service which Uncle Sam has sponsored since she was made chief of that division in the Department of Commerce in 1923.

INFLUENCE IS GREAT

"Women's influence in business today is tremendous," Miss Bush declared. "We know it through the thousands of annual inquiries from every section of the country. But her feminine qualities, such as adaptability to modern business methods, her ability to kindle within herself an enthusiasm for her job and build it up, her natural intuition and thrift are today actually marketable qualities. No woman needs to copy men's methods: she has a valuable contributions for trade within herself."

Miss Bush dwelt particularly upon the recent increase in inquiries coming from both business and club women and stated that it is often impossible to find a difference in these classes because the average woman today is keenly interested in business. Her own job is one of collecting data from every part of the country and distributing it wherever asked for.

THERE IS NO RED TAPE

"I pride myself upon nthe fact that my department is red tapeless," she said. "I take my work as a great adventure in living and the biggest thrill I get out of life is opening my morning mail. It may contain the answer to some problem or dream dating back to 1925."

The biggest question before the nation today according to the inquiries received by Miss Bush and her large research staff is the credit question. Co-operating with her department in a study of this question are the National Credit Association and almost 1000 local credit houses.

"All business as it exists today is built up around every human trait; that is why women's peculiar sympathy and understanding play a vital part in every phase of it," Miss Bush said.

RELIEF POURS INTO FLORIDA

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 27 (AP)—Residents of the Florida hurricane area went about their work of rehabilitation today with assurance that the outside world was responding generously to appeals for supplies and money.

Reports to the Red Cross relief organization indicate allotments for the $5,000,000 relief fund set for the country would be oversubscribed in this State, and that other sections of the country were progressing toward their respective quotas.

Meanwhile the national headquarters of the Red Cross has under advisement a plan to ask the people of the country for a fund of $12,000,000 for permanent rehabilitation.

BROOKLINE WOMAN HURT IN PLUNGE OF 40 FEET

Mrs. Freda Gould, 66, wife of Max L. Gould, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Pauline Schwartz, at 166 Thorndike st., Brookline, received serious injuries when she either jumped or fell from the roof of her home to the ground, a distance of about 40 feet.

Mrs. Schwartz had been talking with her mother in the house only a few minutes before she missed her, and the next thing she heard was screaming outside and found that her mother was lying unconscious on the ground.

TWO MORE PHILADELPHIA CAPTAINS FACE ARREST

Philadelphia, Sept. 27 (INS)—Two more police captains are listed for arrest in the very near future for receiving money from bootleggers, Prosecuting Atty. John Monaghan declared today following a lengthy grilling of Police Inspector John Stuckert, head of the police school. Stuckert was quizzed more than 10 hours and was recalled today. The trend of the questioning was on when books and records of his bank deposits were taken to the district attorney's office.

NEW MEXICAN PRESIDENT IS CALLES MAN

WINS HIGH HONOR BY LOYALTY

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, JR.
Editor of Universal Service.
Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service.

Mexico City, Sept. 27—Steadfastly and in the face of all sorts of obstacles, Mexico seems to be quickening by works that faith in her future which inspired the farewell address of President Calles to Congress a month ago.

It was the same faith which formed the burden of Ambassador Morrow's stirring appeal to the American Chamber of Commerce here shortly after the assassination of President-elect Obregon but July. President Calles in his address asked the outside world to share with him his faith in his people.

Through the troubled waters that came in the wake of that indescribable crime, President Calles has steered his ship of state with a firmness and skill and statesmanship that marks him as a "pilot who weathered the storm."

Portes Gil
U. S. I. Photo.

CALLES' RIGHT-HAND MAN

The latest evidence of this is the deliberation with which Congress has labored to find the best man suited to the difficult and delicate tasks that confront the presidency, and the unanimity with which their final conclusion was reached.

In Emilio Portes Gil, Mexico elevates to the presidency, next December 1, the right arm of the Calles administration—a man of incorruptible honesty and proven integrity who will bring into his exalted office a thorough legal training, an intensive experience in public administration, and a talent for leadership which has been tested on more than one occasion.

It is no reflection, however, on his manifold qualifications for his new duties to say that to every both his election and its unanimity to his long unbroken record of unswerving loyalty to his chief and intimate personal friend, the retiring President.

ONE MINISTER TO QUIT

The probability is that Portes Gil will soon suit his action to the word of his public statement following his election by inviting the Calles cabinet to continue in power until the new election. With the exception of Luis Montes De Oca, Minister of Finance, the invitation will probably be accepted. His retirement will be due, if it occurs, entirely to personal reasons.

In Mexico's provisional President, the next President of the United States will find a fellow executive ready and willing, and also entirely competent, to maintain and strengthen the relations established within the last year between Mexico and the United States by the joint efforts of President Calles and Ambassador Morrow.

CLARA BOW'S STEPMOTHER ARRESTED ON HONEYMOON

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 26 (AP)—The honeymoon of Tui Lorraine, former secretary to Clara Bow, screen actress, who married the latter's father, Robert Bow, last Saturday, was cut short today by her arrest by immigration officers.

Mrs. Bow is charged with entering the United States in violation of the immigration laws by crossing the border near Tijuana, Mexico, on Jan. 15, 1926. Following an investigation the young woman was ordered deported Aug. 28 to New Zealand, whence she came as Miss Bow's private secretary. Miss Lorraine today posted bond of $1000 to guarantee her promise to leave the country before Oct. 12.

Love's All Off

Doris May of the films, who has obtained a divorce in Los Angeles from Wallace A. MacDonald, also a screen actor.

TURKS FINE 3 U. S. TEACHERS

Constantinople, Sept. 27 (AP)—Three American teachers charged with disseminating religious propaganda today were again sentenced to three days' imprisonment and a fine of £13 when the case against them was retried.

The teachers, Miss Jennie Jilson, director of the American School at Brousa, Miss Edith Sanderson of Berkeley, Cal., and Miss Lucille Day were sentenced by Judge Nizameddine, whose former identical verdict had been set aside by the court of appeals.

Miss Jilson will not serve her sentence pending a decision of the upper court to which the defense has again appealed. Miss Sanderson has returned to the United States and Miss Day is teaching in Turkey.

The judge in resentencing the three interpreted the comment on the first verdict by the court of appeals as a call for expansions of his reasons for condemnation rather than disapproval of the verdict.

Americans in Constantinople were rather surprised at today's verdict as they believed the upper court's nullification would result in a new verdict of not guilty, at least for Miss Jilson.

Miss Jilson will continue to stay at the school awaiting the decision on the appeal which will probably be handed down within three months.

MATRON 32 YEARS, OUT ON $25 MONTH PENSION

After 32 years of faithful service as matron of the Newton police department, Mrs. Ella F. Mason, 76 years old, will be retired Sunday on a pension of $25 a month, it was learned today. This meagre allowance is the result of a ruling by City Solicitor Joseph W. Bartlett that Mrs. Mason, known to all local officers as "Mother," is not a member of the police department.

When the aged matron then applied for a pension as a laborer, the city solicitor ruled she did not come under that category either, so she was forced to retire under the recently adopted contributory pension system.

Bigger Taxi Windows to Curb Crooks, But Not Your Petters

New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—Beginning Monday, one day after daylight saving ends, taxicab windows must be larger, so large that the police outside can see what is going on inside.

Curtains are forbidden. But there is no drive against petting. The police think the new regulations will help prevent crime.

MRS. RAY'S AUTO IS STOLEN

Mrs. Elizabeth Ray of Hancock st., Malden, whose separation suit has just been heard jointly with the divorce action of her husband, Elon A. Ray, in Middlesex Probate Court, reported to the police today that her automobile was missing.

Mrs. Ray said she put the car, a sport roadster, in her garage last night, locking the transmission, but this morning the machine was gone. Bennett P. Lesley, who lives downstairs, said he heard the car go out early, but paid no attention to it.

HOPPE'S SWEETHEART ADMITS SHE 'LIED'; CHANGES TESTIMONY

WRONG ABOUT DATE WHEN SHE SAW HIM WITH WOUND

prosecutor, she revealed that after finishing her testimony yesterday she got a Quincy police captain to take her to see Kelley, whom she told that she had lied.

"I lied about the number of days Mr. Bersig (Hoppe's alias) was away," she said today, as spectators in the crowded courtroom gasped, feeling that they were sitting in on a drama as unusual as that which took place when Sacco and Vanzetti were tried in the same courtroom seven years ago.

UNDAUNTED ON STAND

"Did you go to prince Capt. Doran and tell him that you did not dance with the defendant on the morning of Tuesday, Oct. 4," she was asked.

"Yes," she said.

Miss Bradshaw denied telling the police captain that she "lied to help Hoppe" and that she "couldn't tell the truth while looking at the defendant."

When asked if she said she had been summoned by the Commonwealth, but would do all she could to help Hoppe, her reply was: "I didn't say it like that, not in that way."

Whereas the girl witness ended her testimony by saying, "I'm not sure about dates," another prosecution witness, after giving dates on which Hoppe was absent from home, admitted that her husband recalled the dates for her only last week.

In spite of her admissions of false testimony the Hartford girl presented an unruffled exterior, nor did she seemed bothered by occasional laughs from the courtroom throng as she gave answers that seemed to confuse the prosecutor.

Defense counsel fought vigorously to prevent the line of questioning that Kelley put to the witness about her admitted falsehoods.

Kelley's first query, "Did you tell me you lied yesterday on the witness stand and wanted to make a statement?" came as a complete surprise.

Four days after Patrolman Hollis was murdered, while attempting to trap a safe-robber, Hoppe bought a new automobile the cost of which was $2500 and paid for it with $1500 in cash, turning in a used car for the balance, according to a government witness, Edgar W. Heyer, Hartford auto salesman.

ADMITS "MISTAKES"

Hoppe's hand was bandaged that day and the bills he issued in paying for the car were brand new fives, tens and twenties, according to this witness, Edgar Heyer, Hartford auto salesman.

The bullet that killed Hollis was produced in court when Medical Examiner Frederick E. Jones testified and Dr. Jones identified it.

Ten minutes before court opened Hoppe was led in by his guard of four deputy sheriffs and called for his counsel, James T. Cassidy. There followed a conference during which the defendant seemed to be much agitated.

When Miss Bradshaw entered and went to the witness stand, she glanced at the prisoner's cage and smiled.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Kelley asked Miss Bradshaw if she talked with Capt. Doran of the Quincy police after yesterday's session of court.

The Witness—Yes.

Q—And as a result did you ask him to speak to me, to take you to a room where I was in conference?

A—Yes.

Q—Did you say to me—

An objection by Atty. Cassidy for teh defense was followed by a conference with Judge Keating.

Kelley was allowed to put the question, which was: "Did you tell me you lied yesterday on the witness stand and wanted to make a statement?"

Objection was again overruled.

The girl's answer to the question was "Yes."

Q—What did you say? A—I don't know what you mean.

Constant objections were overruled during this questioning.

Q—What did you say when you came to me with Capt. Doran and said: "I made a few mistakes"?

A—I didn't talk to you at all.

CHANGES TESTIMONY

Spectators in the courtroom titered at teh seeming contradiction.

Miss Bradshaw—I said I wanted to speak to you and you said to get out of the building.

Q—Didn't I ask you if you wanted to change your testimony? Did I say we would take care of that in the morning? A—Yes.

Q—Is that the time you mean I wanted to put you out? A—Yes.

Q—Did you tell Capt. Doran in my office that you lied on the witness stand yesterday?

The girl's answer was, "Yes."

Q—And as a result did you ask him to take you in to see me? A—Yes.

Q—Will you tell the court where in you lied?

WITH DETECTIVES

Another objection from Cassidy and Judge Keating said: "She may answer to see if she can do it."

This remark drew a laugh from the spectators and court officers were forced to rap for order.

Miss Bradshaw—Well, I lied about the number of days Mr. Bersig was away.

Q.—What do you want to say now? A.—Three days instead of two.

She had previously testified Hoppe, alias Bersig, was away from October 3 to October 5.

"I said the third to fifth," she continued, in reply to Kelley's query. "I don't remember exactly now the days he was away."

Q—You remember the date of the purchase of the LaSalle auto by Mr. Hoppe, don't you? if that was the eighth, how long before that was " Bersig away? A.—I don't know.

Q—Did you tell Capt. Doran yesterday afternoon in the district attorney's office, before you asked him to take you in, that you didn't dance with the defendant on October 2? A.—I told him I didn't remember.

Q.—Did you tell him that you didn't dance with the defendant on Tuesday morning? A.—Yes. (Tuesday was Oct. 1, the day of the murder in Quincy.)

She had testified yesterday that she went to Old Colony Inn at Meriden, Ct., Monday night, October 1, with Hoppe and returned to Hartford with him early that Tuesday.

SAW HOPPE OCT. 5

Q—Did you see him the next morning, Oct. 4? A.—No.

Q—Did you see him Oct. 5? A.—Yes.

Q—Where? A.—In Hartford.

Q—Is that the day he came home? A.—Yes.

Q—Is it true that you went with him to the doctor the day he came home? A.—Yes.

Q—Did you not give Capt. Doran the reason why you made statements different than on the stand? A.—No, I didn't.

Q.—Did you not say that you lied in your testimony to help Hoppe and that you couldn't tell the truth while looking at Hoppe? A.—No.

Q—Did you say something in that respect? A.—Not in those words.

Q—What do you mean, by "not in those words"? A.—I merely said that I wanted to change my testimony.

Q.—And what reason did you give that you wanted to change your testimony? A.—I don't know.

Q.—You mean you don't remember the reason? A.—I don't remember.

Q.—Did you use the word "lie"? A.—No.

IN BOSTON LAST NIGHT

The prosecuting attorney brought out that she left the Dedham Inn last night and came to Boston with several companions.

Q.—When I saw you in the back of the courtroom today, didn't I ask you if you desired to take the stand and change your testimony? A.—Yes.

Q.—And when I asked you that question, what answer did you give? A.—No.

Q.—Are you sure that's the answer you gave? A.—Yes.

Q.—Didn't you say, "I don't know"? A.—Yes.

Re-cross-examination by Atty. Cassidy, who brought out that she stopped at a Boston hotel last night. She said the place where she was stopping in Dedham "was a dead place" and I wanted to see some life." Atty Cassidy then directed the witness attention to a trip she made to the Old Colony Inn in Meriden with a Mrs. Gray on Tuesday morning, the week of the murder.

The witness was questioned again by the prosecutor.

Q.—Did you not, on Tuesday, say to the proprietress at the Dedham Inn that you were summoned by the Commonwealth and that you were going to help Hoppe all you could? A.—No that way.

Q.—You say you went down Monday, Oct. 3, with Mrs. Gray—isn't it a fact that you left her at the Meriden depot and you got a taxi and went to Hartford. A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you stay at the Essex Hotel last night? A.—Yes.

Q.—What did you do last night? A.—I went to a show.

Q.—On the Sunday night you say you were at Old Colony Inn did Mr. Hoppe speak about taking a trip? A.—Yes.

Q.—On Sunday night, October 2, 1927, did not Hoppe tell you that he was going away and that he would be gone three or four days on business in Massachusetts? A.—No.

Attorney Cassidy then took up the questioning again.

DEPARTS SMILING

Miss Bradshaw said again she left Dedham and took a room at the Hotel Essex, Boston, last night, "because this place was dead." There was a general laugh in the courtroom.

Q.—Is it true that on October 3 you left Hartford and went to Meriden? A.—I'm not sure of dates.

She was taken again by the assistant district attorney, who asked—Did anyone say to you, "You have got to be dancing with Hoppe at the Old Colony Inn on October 2?" Objection was raised by Cassidy and the question was excluded.

Miss Bradshaw was then excused from further testimony and walked out of the room flashing a smile all around. Her last gesture as she passed from view was a toss of her head.

Mrs. Dwight Gray of Seymu st., Hartford, Ct., who said she was formerly a friend of Miss Bradshaw but now is "unfriendly" to both her and the defendant, was the next witness for the state.

She testified that she went to Old Colony Inn, Meriden, Ct., with Hoppe and Miss Bradshaw on Sunday night, Oct. 2, 1927, and with Miss Bradshaw alone on the following night. She said that Hoppe was away for several days between October 2 and 5.

Under cross-examination by Atty. Cassidy she admitted that she placed the dates by what her husband told her last week, after she was summoned to appear in court as a government witness.

She told Prosecutor Hall she heard Hoppe say to Miss Bradshaw that he was going away for two or three days.

STIRS PROSECUTOR

Q.—Did he say where? A.—No.

Q.—To what state? A.—No.

Q.—Did you talk with me last evening in the presence of several other men, and did I ask you if the pe said where he was going? And did you answer—

The witness—Vermont, wasn't it? Atty Cassidy—That's her answer to your question.

Kelley—No, she asked me a question. Now, Mrs. Gray, wasn't it Massachusetts? A.—I don't remember.

The prosecutor asked Judge Keating to rule that the witness was hostile. Defense counsel objected and had Kelly's words stricken out.

Q.—Think a moment and see if you can't remember you said Massachusetts last night? A.—I can't remember.

Q.—Will you say you did not say Massachusetts? A.—I don't remember.

Witness said she remembered that Hoppe had a bandaged hand, but she could not fix the date. The Government contends Hoppe was shot in the hand by a bullet from the slain policeman's gun.

LONDON, PARIS GET U. S. REPLY

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—The American reply to the French and English naval agreement, which has been received by the envoys in London for delivery to the French foreign minister, probably will be made public Saturday morning.

The reply covers comparable items and it is therefore based it would take a day before can be decoded and submitted to Gordon secretary.

There are no indications that the note will present any menace on the naval disarmament issue. It is generally held that the American position will be confirmed, a discussion of this country naval policy, repeatedly outlined by officials of the Washington government, principally by President Hoover.

Paris, Sept. 27 (AP)—Text of the American reply to Anglo-French naval agreement is now received in Paris by American Embassy and will be laid to the French foreign Office tomorrow.

2 MILLION DEBT ENSLAVES WIFE OF BARRYMORE

New York, Sept. 27 (INS)—When Irene Fenwick was a young chorus girl she scrawled her name across a document which today causes her to face the possibility of lifelong financial enslavement and has already resulted in a $2,500,000 judgment being returned against her, covering all her property and earnings, present and future.

She is now trying to have the order set aside, contending that at the time the document was signed she was not yet 18 years old. In 1908

IRENE FENWICK

Irene Fenwick, now Mrs. Lionel Barrymore, was Mrs. Felix Isman.

Her husband, one-time millionaire, bought the Stewart building opposite City Hall Park for approximately $4,500,000, giving a mortgage for 23,700,000. Irene Fenwick signed the mortgage to assure the owners that her dower rights would not interfere.

The mortgage never was paid off, and now, although she divorced Isman, married and divorced James P. (Jay) O'Brien and now is living with a third husband, Miss Fenwick has been held liable for the debt which, after foreclosure and sale of the property and with added interest, amounts to $2,500,000.

"The enormity of the whole thing is beyond my comprehension," she said at her hotel here. "I can't even imagine what a million dollars is."

If unsuccessful in having the judgment set aside, the star's only recourse is bankruptcy, which also would leave her bereft of all property.

MOTHER WITH 4 SEEKS HUSBAND

Deserted with four children, ranging in age from three weeks to four years, Mrs. George L. Leavitt of 57 Massachusetts ave., Lexington, today appealed to the Boston Evening American to help her locate her missing husband.

"If he will only come home everything will be forgiven," said Mrs. Leavitt, who, according to her story, was left alone five weeks ago with a baby due and a notice to vacate their Mystic Valley Parkway, Arlington, home.

Leavitt, who has relatives in Tilton, N. H., is described as being 25 years old, 5 feet 4 inches tall, medium complexion, brown eyes and hair, weighing 135 pounds, with a scar on his right cheek.

ARGENTINA TO QUIT LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Geneva, Sept. 27 (INS)—Argentina intends to withdraw from the League of Nations, it was indicated today by advices from Buenos Aires stating that the Argentine Parliament had decided to discontinue appropriations to meet league dues.

The news caused surprise and consternation in league circles. Under the rules of the league any member nation that contemplates withdrawal must pay dues for two years after notification of withdrawal is given.

3 LIONS BREAK LOOSE; 2 KILLED IN CHASE

El Monte Calif., Sept. 27 (AP)—Three full-grown lions broke from a loading chute at a lion farm near here, seriously injured their keeper and held a score of police and guards at bay for more than an hour. Two of the beasts were killed and the third captured.

Large and Very Painful. Healed by Cuticura.

"I had pimples all over my face for about a year. They were large and red and I was always scratching them, causing them to bleed and then they would fester. They were very painful and every time I shaved the pimples would bleed, causing much discomfort.

"I heard about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I purchased more and in two months I was completely healed, after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) A. Norman Duxbury, 10 St. Marys St., Fairhaven, Mass., Feb. 9, 1928.

SECOND SECTION

Will Any Man Love Girl With a Past?

CHAPTER X.

And now Jan was in San Francisco, all alone, with eleven dollars and twenty cents in her purse, and a cheap suitcase and a brush and comb and a nightgown in the small brown one.

"Was some one to meet you, my dear?"

A pleasant faced woman with the gold badge of the Traveler's Aid pinned on her coat had come to her side. Her groaning old hand was closing on the little bag. "Come—we'll go over to my office, and it will be so much more comfortable waiting there."

"No—no, thank you. I'm waiting for a—some one. Poor meaning her now. Her head ached. She must get away quickly, before the woman found out. Perhaps she was Mrs. Marden must have wired back by this time. Get away, somehow, quick.

She was looking around, pretending to be searching for someone. "I don't see my friend. I think I'll go on home." Her trembling use resulted only in low tone. Loudly, in low action. "If you'll excuse me—I want to go now."

She broke away, hurrying to the booth. It held a glass door. The warm could see, as she ran, that bed in the back for a night, to make it private, so one could sleep. Water running. Had she got—Was Perhaps the only person she knew in all San Francisco. He had said he would be at the Palace for two days, and if he could do any thing for her to just let him know. He could help her now, on so much as one of the number. After a long while. Money came over the wire, rousing fast and strange.

"Why, I—I don't quite know. When I've finished here. What? Oh, yes, I'll come up to the hotel and I'll see what I can do. No, remember, every thing. Elevator door. Just get in the elevator at the ground floor and go up. Room 810. I'll be at the elevator."

At first he did not seem glad to see her. "Oh, it's you, is it?" he said, offering her a hand to help her out. "Well, how's the world been using you? Out with your sweet story to me."

"But—but I came." And she [illegible] "I was afraid [illegible] you'd be glad to see me. I thought—"

"You thought you'd come to find me, did you? Well, this is good! What? Well, get a taxi and we'll go to dinner. I'll come. Five minutes—meet at the Shore."

It turned to be a long one, hoisted [illegible] and [illegible] with his hands in his pockets. "Now, then, what's your own [illegible]?"

"I'm afraid you are. Now let's [illegible]" He stood at the window for a moment, looking down at the street. Then he said at last: "I've got it. Give you an address. Friend of mine. You go there to-night. And tomorrow will see."

"But I don't know them—I mean they don't know me—don't you think it would be best [illegible]"

No, this is a good bunch. Mabel's a real sport. I'll phone her you're coming. Now come along and get in a cab."

In the cab he was too busy to speak and when they were alone again there wasn't time.

A cab drew up to the curb. "But I don't—I really think I should go to a hotel and [illegible]"

"Now, let those. Will fix it. See you tomorrow." And to the driver he said: "Grand View apartment 7, Mrs. Kimmer. See she gets there. No—keep the change."

So Jan came to live with Maisie Kimmer.

She was the first moments of something like terror, while she waited, awed and timid, in the hall and noted the palm and magnificence of the hall. And then Maisie, fat and pushy, with her, [illegible] diamonds in her ears and a little sprigged muslin apron over her gorgeous dress, was warmly welcoming her at the door.

Everything about Maisie was warm—her fat, capable hands, her cheek, her tongue, and her rooms in the Grand View Apartments. At first Jan, accustomed to the bare, cool rooms in the old Van Flats place, and the cell silences of the Misses Van Fleet, thought she could never get used to it. But the strange, new days slipped by, and soon they weren't strange and new any more. She was punching a time clock in the basement of McBride's Department store, eating her lunch at soda fountain counters coming home to Maisie as if she had lived there all her life. Maisie wouldn't hear of Jan calling her Mrs. Kimmer.

"You would see listen to Joan's nursing, and going elsewhere to live after she had got a job. "Don't we get along all right? Haven't I got parts of mine? Now, you let well enough be—"

Before she had been there a week Jan knew Maisie's life history from the time she married her first husband at 16, to the time she buried her third, a year and a half ago. Where Maisie'd come in seems had been in partnership with the late Mr. Kimmer. They had made money together—Maisie didn't say just how. It was the one thing she didn't talk about. Oh, Kimmer had his faults, she said. "He was a great hand to have his little drink. I've always been prohibition myself. My folks was Methodists. Oh, well—Walter meant fine, too, in his way—say what you like."

The hardest part was to get away from the torturous Maisie long enough to write Bill at night.

She wrote her very heart out to him. All the foolish endearments that she had been too shy to write before. All the funny little happenings of the days selling lingerie in McBride's bargain basement. All

7 DEAD, 7000 HOMELESS IN BIG HANKOW FIRE

Shanghai, Sept. 27—Hankow Hunkow, scene of frequent looting and disorder in China's long history, has been visited by another tragedy, this time a fire in the native city, with the destruction of 2000 houses and shops on one of the principal streets. Seven lodges had been recovered up to today, and it was feared that many more were drowned when they jumped into [illegible] to escape the flames. At least 7000 persons were homeless. Chicago, Sept. 27 (INS)—Preparations by the state to secure the death penalty for Angelo Peltzl, alleged chieftain of an extortionist gang here in connection with the kidnaping of 10-year-old Billy Rindell, for ransom.

"Within an hour 100 or so people dropped in to hello Pie and to get the latter a low down on baseball problems. The famous player greeted every mother's son of them in a friendly way and did not get irritated no matter how ridiculous a question was.

"'This is my recreation,' Pie told me. 'The fans get their fun at the ball games, while I get my kick out of the game talking the pastime over with the boys in Somerville.'

"It was natural that Jim Murphy, news editor of the American, should drop in to see Traynor. Jim once wrote sports and so the fever is in his blood.

"'What do you think about Dinty Hogan's slugging?' said Jim laughingly.

"'He's my idea of a real batter,' replied Traynor with enthusiasm.

"Remember what you told Charley Mooney at the Capitol Theater a year ago last July? At that time you predicted that Hogan would become one of the great stars of baseball."

"I'm glad I was right on that one."

"GIVE everything you have to your club. If you have the ability and put your whole heart in the game, you are sure to prove a success."

Style Authority

THE Wing Tip London Brogue is in every English gentleman's shoe kit, and it's a style that has been copied this Fall by every high price manufacturer in America. But when you say it's a Brogue by Bartley of London, you've said all that any man can say about a Brogue.

Bartley & Sons have been making shoes for more than 100 years in the same spot (493 Oxford Street, London, W.). They hold Royal Warrants of Appointment to His Majesty the King and to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

We paid Five Pounds Sixteen Shillings ($27.50) for this original English Wing Tip Brogue—and we bought 40 pairs so that we could show one of Bartley's originals with the Regal Reproduction side by side in every Regal store in U.S.A.

The lasts are identical in both measurements and appearance, and the design is exactly the same. The Upper Leather in Bartley's Brogue is an Imported Calfskin tanned in Oisterwyk, Holland, and in the Regal Reproduction we are using the same identical tannage. Bartley's Brogue is made and sewn by hand. Our shoes are sewn by the same machine as practically all high priced American shoes.

Every hole in the perforations and decorations of the original Bartley Brogue was punched by hand with an awl. We made a die for this design, and with one click of a machine, reproduced the pattern exactly.

And it's the perforations, decorations, punching and notching that put a real kick in a Brogue. A perfectly plain Wing Tip hasn't any more flavor than throwing a kiss to your girl in the dark. But the Bartley Brogue has all the "authority" of a pre-war cocktail and comes from a country where style is still undiluted.

Noted Cooking Authority to Lecture

The Boston Evening American and Sunday Advertiser are making this contribution to the women of New England in the conviction that our womenfolk are interested in ideas of shopping and kitchen methods to effect marketing economy, greater variety in planning and to save maximum time for social life and recreation often neglected by self-sacrificing wives and mothers.

Martha Lee has planned her Annual Cooking School to suit every woman present with a supply of the recipes demonstrated. Nothing, too, how dear a subject, will be omitted that women would become without fun and interest.

Among other things to provide a buffet luncheon and dinner menus of big interest based on the valuable food articles. These, too, are aimed at the entertaining duties prepared at reasonable cost and suggestions as gifts to members of the audience.

Splendid gifts donated by Boston merchants will be awarded to women in attendance and one of these gifts will be an article of value in your kitchen, adaptive or in adding charm to your dining room or to your living room.

3-MINUTE JOURNEYS

By TEMPLE MANNING

MADAGASCAR!

Even its name sounds romantic and picturesque.

This great island, lying off the coast of South Africa, is a possession of France, and much is being done to increase its importance commercially. For many years the Western World paid scant attention to Madagascar as a commercial possibility, but recently the French have developed its resources to a point of real importance.

Undoubtedly the greatest difficulty encountered in the development of Madagascar has been due to lack of roads and means of communication. Another thing which has retarded its commercial growth has been the terrific fever epidemics which come intermittently.

The people of Madagascar are descended, it is believed, from Malayo-Polynesian stock. They are divided into groups, or tribes, inhabiting different parts of the island. Those natives who inhabit the central and eastern regions are known as the Antimerina, or Hova, tribes. Those in the western part of Madagascar constitute the Sakalava group. And in the south the different tribes are known as Betsileo, the Bara, the Mahafaly, the Tanosy and the Tanalora.

There are three distinct social groups on the island. The Andrianas (nobles), the Hava (middle class), and the Mainti (slaves).

In a later issue I will describe these people and their quaint customs in detail.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are overstimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 30 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any druggist.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

THE SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

HOW "primitive," oh, my daughter, are the ways of a woman! But all the ways of a man are "enlightened," in his own eyes.

• • •

Behold, a woman considereth, first her political convictions; and thereafter concludeth to which party she belongeth and for which candidate she will vote.

• • •

But a man, first, picketh his party and chooseth his candidate—and then discovereth his political opinions.

• • •

A woman beginneth by cajoling and resorteth to bullying only when all wheedling and coaxing have failed.

• • •

But a man beginneth by storming and blustering—and endeth by apologizing and letting the woman have her own way.

• • •

A woman anointeth and brusheth her hair to keep it thick and luxurious. But a man walketh until his hair hath departed—and then proceedeth to coax it back again, with tonics and prayer and "magic cures."

• • •

A woman spendeth the days of her youth in filling her hope chest and seeking a husband—and taketh marriage as a foregone conclusion. But a man spendeth his youth dodging matrimony—and is filled with astonishment when he findeth himself facing the altar.

• • •

A woman consumeth an hour in preparing to retire at night—and is arrayed with waiting for breakfast, within 20 minutes.

• • •

But a man spendeth two minutes in tumbling into bed at night—and an hour in assembling his clothes the next morning.

A woman wasteth three days in shopping for a garment which she will, peradventure, wear but three times. But a man spendeth three minutes in selecting a coat which he shall, peradventure, wear for three seasons.

• • •

A woman counteth all comely women and all office vamps her rivals, until they have proved themselves innocent.

But a man counteth no man his rival until his sweetheart hath closed with his best friend or his wife hath eloped with his chauffeur.

A woman starteth out in search of her Ideal Man—and endeth by marrying whatsoever the fates deal out to her.

• • •

But a man starteth out by marrying the first pair of knees or the first dimple which taketh his fancy—and spendeth all the rest of his life in searching for his Ideal Woman!

Verily, verily, the ways of a woman ARE simple. For she seeth what she wanteth and goeth after it!

But a man knoweth not WHAT he desireth, until love or fate or a woman overtaketh him. And then he knoweth that he wanted something ELSE!

ONCE-OVERS

By J. J. MUNDY

WHY be so anxious to entertain that you monopolize the conversation?

You may be a good talker, a fine story-teller, but this does not give you the right to monopolize the conversation most of the time.

Others may want to talk and others may have stories as good as yours.

Because your associates seem to listen politely and their attention seems to mean they are enjoying your monopoly, is not a sure sign they are pleased.

They may be tolerant or courteous.

The incessant talker is seldom a deep thinker.

He doesn't give himself time to think—he does not keep quiet long enough to learn.

It is a great thing to be silent and learn from other members of your party, at times.

If you don't listen you can't realize the value of the things that others might tell of their travels or experience.

Usually the quiet person is full of information.

Try to bring out this fund of facts and learn rather than be classed a chatterer.

NATIONAL POLICIES OF THE HEARST NEWSPAPERS

1. An agreement of English-speaking peoples to preserve peace among themselves and promote the peace of the world.
2. A constitutional amendment to provide for the election of United States Senators in numbers proportionate to the population of each State, but no State to have less than two Senators. A reapportionment of Congressional representation immediately after every census, or in case of the failure of Congress so to act, to make the apportionment automatic at the end of the first Congressional session, the proportion of population for each representative in each case to be that of the existing Congress.
3. A separate Department of the Army, of the Navy and of the Air Forces, all united under a Secretary of National Defence.
4. Federal action to the limit of Federal Government powers to abolish illiteracy among the people of the United States, and the creation of a Secretary of Education.
5. Necessary measures to secure the election of Congress in November and its installation on the 1st of January following, and the inauguration of a President on the 1st of January immediately following his election in November.

Hearst Newspapers Proud They Revealed Franco-British Pact

Last Friday, in an exclusive dispatch from Paris, the Hearst papers published the text of the secret Anglo-French naval agreement.

From the English newspapers, representing the sentiment of the English people, comes a storm of protest against the revealed conspiracy of the British and French naval authorities against the United States Navy.

The frank attitude of the British press, as represented by the Manchester Guardian, the London Times, the Daily Herald and the Daily Express, stresses the folly of that little clique which runs the British Government along the old lines of secret diplomacy and balance of power.

The Manchester Guardian exclaims:

"The principle of naval limitation by categories of ships is sound enough, but it is absurd to suppose it can be made to apply only to those classes of ships which we don't ourselves want to build. And it was even more absurd to suppose that the United States would consider such a one-sided arrangement."

What has happened is now clear. The French got the British to agree that, in coming disarmament proceedings, they would stand together for limitation of submarines over 600 tons, and no limitation of submarines below 600 tons.

On the other hand, the British secured even more valuable promises of support from the French. The naval authorities in the two countries are to insist on limitation of the number of cruisers of 10,000 tons or cruisers with guns larger than 16-inch calibre (the size that will be used on merchant ships in wartime). There is to be unlimited construction of all smaller cruisers.

Now it happens that unlimited small submarines and small cruisers are what the French and British want for patrolling the sea lanes in time of war. They can operate them from their naval bases scattered throughout the world. The United States has none. Therefore, if we are to protect our overseas routes, our cruisers and submarines must be of the large, long-distance type, capable of operating from American bases.

In other words, Great Britain and France propose to limit the number of cruisers and submarines of the type suitable for our naval purposes. They propose to put no limit on the type suitable for their purpose.

President Coolidge's Geneva Disarmament Conference in the summer of 1927 broke up because England insisted upon this kind of unfair formula for cruiser limitation. She refused to accept our proposition of agreeing upon a limitation of the TOTAL cruiser tonnage, each nation to build the TYPE best suited to its needs.

Now Great Britain has made a deal with France for support in the policy which we declared unacceptable at Geneva.

The unfriendliness of the act is modified by American knowledge that in this matter the British Admiralty is not speaking the voice of the British people, who want friendly co-operation between the two Anglo-Saxon peoples, and not tricky attempts by one to get the advantage of the other.

In the meantime, public opinion in the United States is rapidly and almost unanimously ranging itself behind President Coolidge's announced intention to go ahead with the construction of the American navy of a type suitable for American needs and of a strength adequate for American defense.

The Hearst newspapers are proud of having been the agency to bring the French-British accord into the pitiless glare of publicity, in which its true nature is becoming known.

A Railroad's Opportunity

THREE Back Bay Stations or ONE?

If President Crowley of the New York Central Railroad would stimulate the friendly feeling which exists in this community for the Central Lines he will give amicable ear to Boston's petition for a Union Station in the Back Bay.

The investment suggested by Mayor Nichols and approved by President Henry I. Harriman of the Chamber of Commerce will amount to $500,000, NOT a great sum for a railroad of the first rank to invest in community good will.

For more than thirty years the Back Bay has had to put up with three small railroad stations within a hop, step and jump from one another. There was, first, the Back Bay Station of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad and then the Trinity Place and the Huntington Avenue stations of the Boston & Albany, one of the Central's leased lines.

"Back Bay" once upon a time meant the fashionable residential district. Anyone who thinks it means no more than that today does not know his Boston, is unfamiliar with the development of the Park Square section, out of touch with the city's hotel life, uninformed about the schools, hospitals and other institutions in and around the Fenway.

The Mayor calls the existing arrangement of railroad stations "absurd as well as expensive." The fire which destroyed the New Haven's depot provides the way to better things. The New Haven MUST, the Boston & Albany SHOULD rebuild.

In days of old the railroad official who treated public opinion with contempt or indifference was NOT a rare bird. His attitude was expressed in "the public be damned." Today, the "big" railroad man is as eager to gain and as keen to hold the esteem of his customers as the actor, the politician or the business man.

If the lessees of the Boston & Albany are wise they will heed the wishes of 35,000 petitioners—not to mention the Mayor and the Chamber of Commerce—the new Back Bay Station will be a three-in-one affair, and Mayor Nichols will be in a position to proceed with the building of a new bridge across the Charles at Dartmouth Street.

ABOUT CHEMISTRY AND WARFARE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE other night at Northwestern University Sir James Irvine, of St. Andrews University, Scotland, asserted that a country's preparedness for war could be found in its chemical preparedness. The next war will be chemical.

No peace treaties can control or even detect research designed to furnish lethal agents. This research may be going on anywhere in preparation for the next war.

"The whole machinery of war may be scrapped, warships may be sunk, armies disbanded and fortresses demolished, but the chemical factory will remain, and so long as it exists it is a potential war factory.

"A factory for the preparation of dye stuffs requires very little alteration to be converted in a few hours into a place for making materials much more deadly than those used in the late war.

"I do not speak," he continued, "in a panic created by reading articles in the press about the potency of gas poison, but I have profound respect for the possibilities of chemistry."

He went on to say that chemists abhor the destruction of life, or creating gases to kill people, but under present conditions it is impossible to stop it.

Many people object to this method of warfare, but we are swept along by a tide against which it is impossible to struggle.

The despised scientist has ceased to be a man struggling for the preservation of useless learning, for the next war will probably be fought with gases and airplanes.

Some time before the World War a Russian writer said that though our most efficient enemies were germs and insects we murder one another as if we were out of our senses.

"Think of what humanity could obtain," he added, "if this prodigious effort were devoted to fighting our real enemy, the noxious species and our hostile environment!"

A congress was called at Ithaca where men of all nations met to fight the insects, whose ravages in America alone, it is estimated, amount to $2,000,000,000 a year.

In the forests alone their destruction is greater than that caused by fire.

Insects have probably been on this planet several millions of years and man is a comparative newcomer. The warfare, therefore, is against a silent enemy, powerful in numbers. Why should not men devote their energies to this real enemy rather than to the business of killing each other.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

HERE'S a letter from a 19-year-old boy.

It is an actual letter from a real boy, printed exactly as it was received. But it might be a letter from any 19-year-old boy. It might, indeed, be a letter from the boy you were at 19, Dan.

So I'm asking you to be friendly as you read it, for the sake of all the dear, troubled youngsters of 19 who are needing a boost today.

Dear Elsie Robinson:

Have you a few consolation words for a boy who's hell bent for destruction? I tell you he's lost the spark of ambition—just merely drifting along believing that his father (who was an utmost failure) is partly to blame for his present state.

A few years back when in high school he was full of hopes, cherished the thoughts of success, loved everything on God's green earth. He'd smile and laugh at life and say, "you can't lick me."

But now everything is different. The studies he put in to be a writer, a newspaperman, were blasted. He had to go out and look for a job with no pull whatever from any source. From day to day he went from one place to another, only to be told that every thing was filled.

Finally, through an act of desperation, he left the town, thinking it was a curse that followed him. Without a word to his mother or brothers he left, and he carried with him 27 cents, all the money he possessed in this world. Five days later he came back home, broken and spent, hungry, dirty and none the wiser for his foolish experience. He had in his eye the look of madman—the look of hatred, the kind that makes terrible fighting fiends of gentle hearts.

He waited for his silver lining to appear, but it never came. Things went from bad to worse. Even till now he has never broken the law of God or man. He lives like a hermit—friends or gangs he cares not for.

The only fault is he has become terribly lazy and now if he were to be offered a good office job I fear he would never made good. His heart is restless and because he believes he is playing a losing hand he wants to die.

"I've played everything," he says. "I'm about ready to turn in my chips."

He's not quite 19, Elsie. Please won't you give this boy a little advice. Because, Elsie, this boy just happens to be me.

VAGABOND.

DEAR Buddy, of course I understand. For I was that way myself when I was 19 and so was every other person who's worth a hoot.

There's nothing abnormal or unnatural in your condition. It's quite right that you should feel all full of pinwheels and Roman candles and big wet tears about yourself at your age. It's as natural as shedding teeth or sprouting whiskers. Scientists call it adolescence—which is a dull name for a wonderful experience.

I know it doesn't seem wonderful to you. Life just now seems full of pain and confusion and charley-horses. But it is a wonderful confusion, for you are emerging from youth into manhood and you are filled with great dreams and splendid rebellions. Even the ugliness and resentment are a natural part of the process, for they are the scum on top of a healthy ferment.

So hang on, Buddy. Talk about turning in your chips if it gives you any pleasure (as of course it does), but don't take your talk seriously. Just hang onto this advice.

BELIEVE IN YOURSELF. BELIEVE IN THE FINE THINGS IN YOURSELF AND FIGHT FOR THEM.

Try to believe in the rest of the world, too. Try to plant your beliefs sensibly to other beliefs. But don't mind if people laugh at you or tell you you're goofy. Believe in yourself, and in the life you're going to lead. Believe that it's all worth while, no matter how much it costs, and plan to live it gayly, gallantly and generously.

Love beauty. Seek truth. Follow the great trails. And here's one whose heart will follow them with you.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

To be trusted is a greater compliment than to be loved. —McDonald.

Events of great consequence often spring from trifling circumstances —Livy.

New York Day by Day

By O.O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—Where the elevated winds its serpentine way around a curve at 110th street it reaches its highest altitude. This has been picturesquely termed "Suicide Peak" by reporters because of the number of men and women who have jumped to death into the street below.

In one week there were three such spectacular suicides, and in all there have been more than a score. Suicide in New York is often prompted by succession. Someone intent upon self-destruction finds a new way of ending his troubles and others read the headlines and follow.

"Suicide Peak" now has a guard in plain clothes, whose job is to watch any passenger who alights from a train and acts suspiciously. It has been found most people seeking such tragic ends have their moments of indecision and in this way several have been frustrated.

While it has not held good in every case, it is the general thing when people are stopped from suicide they never try again. The majority who premeditate self-inflicted death usually prime themselves with stimulants to nerve them for the endeavor.

Consequently, when anyone displays a furtiveness near "Suicide Peak" he is immediately escorted to the street, despite protests. They take no chances. Only one person who made this leap has ever survived. He landed on the top of a canopied delivery wagon and was disabled for life.

So far there has been only one suicide by leaping from the Woolworth tower. This unfortunate victim jumped from such height that, landing on his feet in the street a bone of his leg was driven through his skull.

Big buildings such as the Woolworth take every precaution to prevent these tragedies. People who loiter at hallway windows are carefully watched. Some display cheer-up cards prominently in their halls reading: "Nothing is as bad as it looks," and the like.

A REAL ESTATE firm near Jamaica has adopted a color scheme which at least makes it talked about—and noticed. The building is flaming red. The auto service cars are of the same hue, as is the office furniture, and walks are of gravel painted red. All the stenographers and salesmen have red hair.

A FIST fight among chorus girls recently reached the first page, yet such scrimmages are not unusual. Scarcely a week passes along Broadway without a couple of them going to it with lively socks and hair yanking. The petty jealousy that afflicts most stage people, coupled with the intimacy from being hurried in the same dressing rooms, is responsible. During one engagement of the Follies in Boston several years ago an Amazonian show girl, blotto with too much gin, went on the warpath, and next day five of her glorified sisters awakened with mussed eyes. The girl, incidentally, left the show at the management's request, quit the business and is now the peaceful wife of a rancher in west Texas. But she had her fun.

AN energetic lawyer in Yucatan, Mexico, got hold of a New York Social Register and mailed every person in it a card explaining how simple and inexpensive it was to come down his way and have the marriage knot secured. It is said 16 inquired by cable for best terms.

Our Transit Needs

A Special Commission Will Inquire

The Special Rapid Transit Commission which is to investigate the "essential needs" of the cities and town served by the Boston Elevated Railway System has organized by electing Senator Gaspar C. Bacon chairman.

Inasmuch as the Commission's report to the Legislature, "including drafts of proposed legislation," is to be filed on or before the first day of December, public hearings must necessarily be held at a time when public attention will be centered almost exclusively upon the State and National campaigns.

This, it seems to us, is most unfortunate. One of the reasons for the appointment of a special investigating body, we suppose, was the historic Beacon Hill plea that failure to grapple manfully with the Elevated problem was due to lack of time and "rush of other business."

It is the announced plan of the Bacon commission to hold its hearings at night, whenever it leaves the State House, and so give car riders and others an opportunity to be heard at convenient times.

In view of what happened in the recent primaries to certain Senators whose labors at the State House never caused distress or anxiety to a public utility corporation, the car rider, for a time, at least, will hug the hope that a better day is dawning.

Fires

An official of an American fire insurance company, just returned from Europe, notes the contrast between our average of one fire every minute with the experience of one European community which has had but one fire in a century.

Both these extremes may be bad. Ours certainly is. But Europe's is not much better.

When we burn out we rebuild in improved fashion. Thus our movement is ever forward. Europe's more static status suggests dry rot.

If we rebuilt wisely and were more careful we, too, could have fewer fires.
